

James A. Nyman

EDUCATION INFORMATION:

BA English, Bennington College, 2002

SUBFIELD

Historical Archaeology

AREAS OF INTEREST:

I am interested in the relationships that developed between Native Americans and Europeans during the era of colonialism. My particular research addresses how Native American expressed cultural identity while navigating the institution of colonialism and new modes of production. I am focusing on the Native groups of the South Carolina low country, labeled “settlement Indians” following the Yamasee War of 1715.
