

Political Science
Department
NEWS BULLETIN
Volume XVI, No. 3 March 25, 2005

PUBLICATIONS

Jim Douglas' comments before the American Bar Association regarding judicial budgeting were published in Judicature 88 (January/February): 159-162.

Charles Kegley's book (co-authored with Eugene R. Wittkopf), World Politics: Trends and Transformation 10th ed., has been published by Thomson/Wadsworth Learning, March 1, 2005.

Katherine Barbieri's article with Jack Levy "Trading with the Enemy During Wartime" was published in Security Studies 13(3): 1-47. This new journal issue will appear with a Spring 2004 publication date. A date prior to when the article was accepted.

George Krause and Jim Douglas' article entitled "Institutional Design versus Reputational Effects on Bureaucratic Performance: Evidence from U.S. Government Macroeconomic and Fiscal Projections" appears in the current issue of Journal of Public Administration Research and Theory 15:2(April): 281-306.

PAPERS and PRESENTATIONS

Todd Shaw will present two papers at the National Conference of Black Political Scientists, March 24-26th, Washington, DC. He will present one with Eric McDaniel, University of Texas-Austin, entitled "Whosoever Will: Black Theology, Homosexuality, and the Black Political Church." He will also present with Lester Spence, Washington University, entitled "Race and Representation in Detroit's Community Development Coalitions."

MATTERS OF INTEREST

Don Songer has recently been notified that he has been awarded a $15,000 grant from the National Science Foundation as an undergraduate research supplement to his existing grant, "Collaborative Research: Extending a Multi-Country Database and Program of Research."

Dan Sabia chaired and served as the discussant on a panel on "Political People, Political Theory and Political History" at the annual meeting of the South Carolina Political Science Association held at Francis Marion University on February 26. Two of the presenters on this panel were POLI students: grad student Jack Lechelt presented a paper on G.H.W. Bush and "The Semi-Institutional Vice-Presidency," and undergrad (and Honors student) Daniel Regenscheit presented a paper on the "Dystopias of Huxley and Zamyatin." At least two other POLI grad students also presented papers at the meeting: Jonathan Miller and Lucas McMillan.

Tom Durkin moderated the Carolina Productions Debate on Gun Control between Professor Frank Zimring and Mr. John Lott.

Todd Shaw served as the public policy section head for the 39th Annual National Conference of Black Political Scientists, March 24-26th, Washington, DC.

Todd Shaw is conducting his “War on Terrorism Student Dialogue Study” between April 1st through April 15th. He is soliciting USC undergraduates, 18 to 25 years of age, who self-identify as Black/African American, White/European American, Arab/Arab American, Asian/Asian American, and/or Latino. It is a focus group design where students will receive $20.00 in compensation. Interested students should contact Shaw at shawtc@sc.edu, with the subject line: wardialogue to fill out a pre-survey.

Katherine Barbieri organized and chaired a panel on “Globalization and Conflict” for the International Studies Association Meeting held in Honolulu, HI, March 1-5, 2005. She also presented a paper entitled “Economic Globalization and Civil War” with Rafael Reuveny at the ISA meeting.

Katherine Barbieri began her appointed term on the Publications Committee of the International Studies Association. She also serves as an elected Officer at Large of Women’s Caucus of the ISA.

Katherine Barbieri served on the Selection committees for the Carolina and McNair Scholars and the Outstanding Women of USC.

NOTICE: Also available on the web page at www.cla.sc.edu/POLI.

