

Political Science Department
NEWS BULLETIN

Volume XVI, No. 6

September 23, 2005

PUBLICATIONS

Dan Sabia's essay, "Billy Budd and the Politics of Prudence," appears as the lead chapter in Democracy's Literature: Politics and Fiction in America, eds. Patrick Dennen and Joseph Romance (Rowman and Littlefield, 2005).

Betty Glad has published "Sidestepping the Hawks: Eisenhower, The Solarium Study and the Hungarian Crisis of 1956," (with Kenneth Kitts) in Larry Berman, ed., The Art of Political Leadership, Rowman & Littlefield, 2004.

Betty Glad has published "The Psychological Presidency" (with Jack Lechelt) in Gary Greg, ed., Thinking About the Presidency, Longman, 2005.

Betty Glad has published "The Psychobiography in Context: Predicting the Behavior of Tyrants" in William Todd Schultz, Handbook of Psychobiography. Oxford University Press. 2005.

David Darmofal's article, "Elite Cues and Citizen Disagreement with expert Opinion," appears in the September issue of Political Research Quarterly.

Brad Gomez's article with J. Matthew Wilson (Southern Methodist University), entitled "Rethinking Symbolic Racism: Evidence of Attribution Bias," has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Politics.

Neal Woods' manuscript "Legislative Professionalism and Influence on State Agencies: The Divergent Effects of Resources and Careerism" has been accepted for publication at Legislative Studies Quarterly (co-authored with Michael Baranowski.)

Jim Douglas' article "Judicial Administration at the University of South Carolina," has been published in Justice System Journal, Vol. 26, No. 2, 198-203.

Chuck Kegley has published "Preventive Intervention and the Transformation of the International Legal Order," in The New American Order (Seville Almuzara Press).

PAPERS and PRESENTATIONS

Gordon Smith presented a paper, "The Procuracy, Putin, and Rule of Law in Russia," at the VII World Congress of the International Council for Central and East European Studies in Berlin, July 25-30.

Gordon Smith presented a paper, Rule of Law and the Construction of the National Security State in Russia" at the First Global International Studies Conference, Istanbul, Turkey, August 24-27.

Mona Lyne presented "The Voter's Dilemma and Democratic Performance: A General Electoral Theory of Electoral Theory of Legislative Conflict and Cooperation" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Jessica E. Sowa and Laura R. Woliver's paper, "Grass-Roots Feminism: Raising Money for Abortions as Direct Action" was presented at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Katherine Barbieri presented a paper entitled "Resource Scarcity and Civil War" (co-authored with Rafael Reuveny) at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Ann Bowman presented a paper entitled "Cities and Environmental Politics" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Don Songer, Stacy Haynie (LSU) Neal Tate (Vanderbilt) and Reggie Sheehan (Michigan State) presented a paper entitled, "Winners and Losers: Appellate Court Outcomes in a Comparative Perspective" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Todd Shaw and Sixto Olmo-Rodriguez (University of Illinois) presented a paper entitled, "Independencia, Nation Time! A Comparative Analysis of Puerto Rican and Black Cultural Nationalism" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Tom Hansford, Elisha Savchak, and Don Songer presented a paper entitled, "Future Career Expectations and Strategic Retirements from the U.S. District Courts" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

David Darmofal presented a paper entitled "The Endogenous Relationship of Campaign Expenditures, Expected Vote, and Media Coverage" with Janet M. Box-Steffensmeier and Christian A. Farrell at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

David Whiteman presented a paper entitled "Documentaries as Policy Analysis?: An Issue-Centered Model of Outreach and Policy Impact" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Brad Gomez presented a paper entitled "Party Voting and the Institutionalization of the Party Whip System" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Neal Woods' presented a paper entitled "Pluralism, Agency Autonomy, or Bureaucratic Capture: Public Participation in State Agency Rulemaking" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005

John Hsieh presented a paper entitled "Democracy in a Mildly Divided Society" at the Conference on Emerging Democracies and Democratic Values: The Experiences of Taiwan and East Asia, University of North Texas, Denton, TX, August 27-28, 2005.

MATTERS OF INTEREST

Betty Glad served as a roundtable participant on "The Art of Political Leadership" in honor of Fred Greenstein at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Zaryab Iqbal chaired the panel "Civil War: Duration and Outcome" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Harvey Starr served as chair and discussant on the panel, "The Environment, Scarcity, and Conflict," at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

Brad Gomez was a discussant on the panel entitled "Economic Voting Revisited" at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

At the American Political Science Convention the Women's Caucus for Political Science (Laura R. Woliver, President) presented the following:

- * a full day preconference at Howard University on August 31st - 12 panels total;
- * the Alice Paul dissertation award

David Whiteman served as the coordinator for the APSA Working Group on Green Politics and Political Thought, as part of the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C. He was also re-elected to the Executive Committee of the Politics, Literature, and Film Section.

John Hsieh testified at the hearing on the Law in Political Transitions: Lessons from East Asia and the Road Ahead for China, held by the Congressional-Executive Commission on China on July 26, 2005.

(<http://www.cecc.gov/pages/hearings/072605/Hsieh.php>)

John Hsieh served as a discussant at a panel on “Electoral Politics, Political Transition and Taiwanese Democracy” at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

John Hsieh served as a discussant at a panel on “Contending Frames of National Identity” at the 2005 Conference on Taiwan Issues held by the USC Center for Asian Studies, Columbia, SC, September 9-11, 2005.

CURRENT GRADUATE STUDENT NEWS

Christine Sixta (Ph.D candidate in PS) presented a paper entitled “ The Crisis of Canonization: Holy Women in the Early Renaissance” at the APSA Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., September 1-4, 2005.

NOTICE: Also available on the web page at www.cas.sc.edu/poli.

|